

STUNG ONLY ONCE: Without benefit of veil, smoker or other equipment of the beekeeper's trade, Alvin Aldridge, 806 Pipestone street, Benton Harbor, pries open wrenhouse (white box) that was invaded by swarm of bees in his back yard Friday. His aim was to get them out of the wrenhouse and into a temporary beehive he quickly assembled next to the birdhouse in trotch of tree. Another wrenhouse is seen above hive box. Aldridge, a former Kentucky farmboy who used to keep bees, stripped to waist to work among the thousands of swarming bees, and was stung only once during the entire episode! Loose clothing, he explained, can trap bees against the body—and that angers the bees. The mother wren, incidentally, was trapped inside her house when bees took over, and Aldridge heard her struggling inside.

Suspect Believed Famed Killer Of 1930's

By JAMES D. WHITE

MARTINEZ, Calif. (AP)—Winnie Ruth Judd, convicted of double murder in a sensational trial in 1933 and missing since she escaped from an Arizona mental hospital in 1962, has been captured in a suburban village east of San Francisco where she was working as a domestic.

Sheriff's Lt. Robert Sang said the woman convicted of murdering her two best girl friends in Phoenix in 1931, and shipping their remains to Los Angeles "steadfastly denies she is Winnie Ruth Judd."

But Sang, a crew-cut veteran detective, said he identified her through fingerprints, old photos and a scar on her left index finger.

He conceded that the woman who was working as a cook and housekeeper under the name of Marian Lane "looks about 10 years younger" than Winnie Ruth Judd's 64 years.

The woman, who says she's 54, is plump and matronly compared with the wasted woman who walked away from Arizona in her seventh escape.

She was picked up at 2 p.m. Friday by Sang and Sgt. Joe Walsh at the Danville home of Dr. John Blemmer, a general practitioner vacationing with his wife in Europe.

Sang said "everything she has indicates she is Marian Lane," but that "information from both inside and outside" California, as well as his own fingerprint check, led him to believe Marian Lane is Winnie Ruth Judd, once known as "the tiger woman."

He booked her as a fugitive from an Arizona mental institution.

LEGISLATURE PONDERSEX EDUCATION RULES

LANSING (AP)—Elementary and secondary school teachers would receive new rules and guidelines for teaching sex in their classrooms this fall if the Michigan Legislature agrees on a House proposal.

An amendment added Friday to the $38.58-million Education Department appropriation would direct establishment of state rules and guidelines by Aug. 15, or require school districts to suspend sex education until given further approval by the State Board of Education.

Adopted by a 71-21 House vote, the proposal faces Senate review along with some $2.85 million in additional funds for state college scholarships and support of adult, community education projects in public schools.

Republican Reps. James Smith of Davison, Loren D. Anderson of Pontiac and William Hampton of Bloomfield Hills proposed the change in Michigan's year-old statute authorizing districts to set up their own sex education programs.

Anderson and Hampton earlier introduced a resolution, approved by both chambers, calling for review of the content and presentation of courses in hygiene, family relationships and personal sexual behavior.

The resolution would not necessarily affect local school districts, since it does not have the force of law.

Enactment of the amendment, however, would be law.

HIGHER TAXES 'INEVITABLE', SAYS ZOLLAR

Budget Is Teetering On Deficit

But Milliken Feels There's Just Enough

LANSING (AP)—Michigan's $1.534 billion budget teeters on the brink of a deficit today as experts dispute the possibility of new taxes.

Senate Appropriations Chairman Charles O. Zollar, R-Benton Harbor, called higher taxes "inevitable" Friday after the House and Senate passed spending bills boosting the executive budget recommendations by some $24 million.

But Gov. William Milliken and State Budget Director Glenn Allen said they believed present revenues and surplus—now estimated at $1.540 billion—would be enough to meet the budget.

Interchamber conference committees, working to cut differences in House and Senate-passed versions of the appropriations bills, could raise or lower the total budget.

MORE SPENDING

In addition, Zollar contended, a supplemental spending bill that he expects will be needed in January could add from $10 million to $40 million to state spending.

"Unless there is a substantial increase in estimated revenue and/or a new tax source," he said, "I contemplate we will be in a deficit within the fiscal year." The 1969-70 spending year begins Tuesday.

"New taxation is inevitable," he said, "and it seems the income tax is the most equitable."

"Politically you're going to have to do it this fall," he said, referring to the anticipated reluctance of lawmakers to raise taxes in 1970, an election year.

A major addition to the budget, Milliken termed "sacrosanct" earlier this year came in the appropriation to the State Department of Social Services, which handles welfare payments.

The Legislature added nearly $30 million to the executive recommendation, as the Senate barely passed a bill totaling $289.3 million.

The vote was 20-12, exactly the total required for passage in the upper chamber.

Zollar voted "no" and explained his action with a blast at "federal mandates" such as the recent U.S. Supreme Court ruling that removed residency

Zollar Gets Slap In Face

House Rejects His Plans On New State Capitol

LANSING (AP)—Because of an 11th-hour, turn-about vote in the Michigan House, one of the world's foremost architects could be picked to design and supervise construction of a new State Capitol.

The House vote is a direct slap in the face for State Senator Charles Zollar (R-Benton Harbor) and Senator Garland Lane (D-Flint). They have been vigorously pushing the Capitol project and have on the drawing board a preliminary architectural plan on how they think the building complex should look.

But there's plenty of opposition to the Capitol project which has been dubbed "Fort Zollar-Lane" by someone in the Legislature.

The severe style of the new office buildings now built in the Capitol complex have drawn fire. "I think it's ridiculous that two guys like Zollar and Lane have the power to set the aesthetic standards for the state," said a high-ranking state official who chose to remain anonymous.

Suddenly particular about committing itself to preliminary plans, the lower chamber Friday decided the work of a Saarinen, Yamasaki or latter-day Frank Lloyd Wright might be more desirable than plans now developed, according to the Zollar-Lane ideas.

he House voted 70-27 to ignore recommendations of Gov. William Milliken, two legislative appropriations committees and the Senate. It stripped $4 million earmarked for the new

Shoes May Offer Clue In Slayings

Police Issue Public Appeal

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Authorities seeking to solve the string of sex slayings in the Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti area appealed to the public Friday to help them find what may be a crucial clue—a missing pair of shoes.

The shoes belonged to Alice Kalom, 21, the latest of six women murdered over the last two years. She had purchased them the afternoon of June 7 and was seen carrying them when she left for a party that night, the last place she was seen alive.

Washtenaw County Prosecutor William Delhey, who is in charge of the four law enforcement agencies working to solve the crimes, said the missing shoes are significant because at least half of the slain girls were at least partially undressed when found.

Delhey said he thought the killer may keep such items of clothing—a pair of stretch slacks, a purse, earrings and a diamond ring are also missing—have shown them to someone, tried to sell them or even given them as a gift.

SDS Blows Its Cool

Shortly after leaving the White House eight years ago, the late Dwight Eisenhower remarked that the two major parties' quadrennial national conventions leave much to be desired.

Ike put them down for being long on vaudeville and short on responsiveness to their adherents back home.

Similar comments preceded Ike's estimation by several decades and found repetition in more acidic form last year.

The Republican conclave at Miami was Dullsville to the nth degree.

The Democratic gathering a month later at Chicago gave liberals the opportunity to sound off more vehemently than they did against the G.O.P. They accused Mayor Daley of fencing off the public's yearning for change by police state tactics.

The critique adopts two illustrations to illuminate the argument that the convention system has been out of touch with grass roots sentiment for too long.

Before the TV cameras exposed the conventions' showmanship in 1952, the first year in which the Democratic and Republican gatherings were beamed into America's hearthside theatres, the home folks assumed the two major parties went at the business of selecting a future President with the partisan integrity of a Daniel Webster delivering one of his famous orations 150 years ago.

Television destroyed that illusion and, sad to say, has compounded the clowning. Half or more of the honor in being named a delegate or alternate today is the planned expectation of being seen in the big tent by one's friends and neighbors.

This hamming to the contrary, the conventions still muddle through reasonably close to what most of their followers back home will accept and work toward.

Dull as was the Republican session and juggernaut in its proportion as was the Nixon bloc, the meeting did express a widely held view that it was about time Uncle Sam quit rock'n roll for a Viennese waltz.

Daley managed the Democratic convention better than anyone else gave any indication of being able to do.

His instinct told him the Democrats might fare better with Bobby Kennedy than other hopefuls.

Bobby's assassination shifted that instinct automatically. Stick with Humphrey who already had most of the horses, the delegates' votes, in his corner. If the party went with McCarthy or McGovern, it would have to fight Nixon on his own terms, namely, that the Democratic stewardship since 1964 had been wrong.

Daley may have been tough in the bit in getting Humphrey nominated before the street fights could wreck the convention, but the close election and a continued Democratic control in Congress proves his ability to size up the public's position.

The SDS, Students for a Democratic Society, were the most vocal in the criticism thrown at both conventions.

The Establishment's leaders, they chanted, do not know they are finished.

Last Sunday the SDS ended its national convention in Chicago's Coliseum in greater disarray than that experienced by their elders.

The SDS came out in parcels, no longer an orange, but sections in a serving bowl.

There is the original SDS and there is a new SDS.

The original holds firm to its homespun brand of anarchy on the campus and wherever else it can be placed.

The new outfit is an out and out Commie front dedicated to Marx and Lenin's class struggle doctrinarism.

Toward the end of the week-long gathering the original crew read the new one out of the party and left the hall.

The usurpers glombed on to the treasury and stayed at the Coliseum.

In their language we now have an Establishment SDS and a Dis-establishment SDS.

This is something like the North and the South in the first half of the 1860s, or the House of David and the City of David; and nothing at all like the Republicans and the Democrats who are Americans first and partisan scappers second.

Not too many weeks ago, before the colleges' regular terms closed, there was considerable worry in the business community about the SDS' announced intention of moving in on the labor unions.

This didn't cause any lost sleep for the labor bosses, but on many managers saw the love-in on company time becoming a fact.

As things stand now, the SDS, at least the Old Guard branch of it, may have trouble keeping together just to try another potshot at the campuses this fall.

The young people may have disarmed themselves by conventional methods, if the reader will excuse the pun.

BEGINNING NEW SEASON

—1 Year Ago—

St. Joseph municipal band will begin its 30th consecutive season as a tax-supported civic function Sunday, June 30, with concerts at 2:30 and 7:30 p.m. in the bandshell in Lake Front park, downtown St. Joseph, according to John E. N. Howard, director.

Musical guests of the band for the two concerts will be the chorus from the Fruit Belt chapter of SPEBSQSA presided over by Pat Carnahan and directed by Tom Ferran.

MILLAGE CUT

—10 Years Ago—

A cut of .85 mills in the St. Joseph school board tax request, will probably mean that some $50,000 for school operations next year will have to come from surplus operating funds, according to Earl Place, superintendent of St. Joseph schools.

Place said the school administration has not yet drawn up recommendations for the school board, which had requested the county tax allocation board to provide $11 per $1,000 equalized valuation for school use. The board actually gave the school $10.158.

The superintendent said that as of last July 1, the surplus was $250,000. What it will be this July 1, he said, cannot be told until the affects of state aid receipts are determined.

"RUMPUS ROOM" OPENED AT YWCA

—25 Years Ago—

A student planned "rumpus room" in the YWCA for Twin City youngsters, 15 to 18 years, will have its grand opening on Friday night. A soft drink bar and a floor show will be the attractions at the opening, in addition to the nautical decorations.

Billed on the floor show for this week are Chester Steffey, pianist; Elaine Kalke, vocalist; and two surprise members.

Craig Pitcher will be master of ceremonies; Millie Makytka, chairman of the board of recreation, assisted by Elna Kasichke, Quick Carlson, Jack Ward, and Craig Pitcher. The committee advisor is Miss Grayce Ambrose of the YMCA staff.

FESTIVITIES PLANNED

The Coast Guard cutter, Escanaba, will return to this port for the Fourth of July holiday program. A surfboat race will be held between the crews of the deck force and the engineer force of that ship. Fireworks are in prospect for the evening.

HENRY CATHCART

Inside Washington

WASHINGTON — It now appears that President Nixon will get just about all he has asked for in the way of tax legislation from the Democratic-controlled Congress. The price he'll have to pay is a further cut in government spending below his own sketchy budget estimates, but it is the kind of price he can pay without feeling too pained about it.

There lie some dramatic moments ahead before the legislative performances have drawn to a close. For example, it is unlikely that Congress will be able to finish its work on the surtax extension bill by its present expiration date, June 30, but this will be solved by listening to some angry words from individuals in both houses and then witnessing them vote a temporary extension of the existing law.

Then, too, when the tax bill reaches the Senate, there's bound to be a lot of hoopla

MALACHI PARAPHRASED

Back in the 1930s the late Lewis E. Lawes, then warden of Sing Sing prison, was invited to come to Illinois and straighten out what was at that time a messy situation in the Illinois Department of Correction. In reply Mr. Lawes replied, in part, "and I have my hands full keeping my own house in order."

This refusal to become involved in the affairs of another state at the expense of his own institution and state brings out the determination to examine one's own problems at home before making commitments elsewhere. This applies not only to one's home life or business, but government on all levels also.

This fact is innocently demonstrated by a teen-ager who said, "The United States is sweeping its own dirt under the rug and giving away our vacuum cleaner."

A rather crude way to define our national indifference, but it does demonstrate that in our case as citizens "charity does not begin at home." As a matter of fact all the states could profit greatly by a long home study course in good housekeeping.

When a government has to dole out billions to keep the wheel of American business rolling and more billions to feed the bellies of its people and keep adding taxes to an already overtaxed populace to keep the fires of war burning in far off places, there is plenty of evidence of poor housekeeping in every city, town, village and farm in the country.

There is something ironic about the fact that America, the richest, most powerful nation on earth is so frustrated that it has to scrape the bottom of the barrel just about the time when the anniversary of the birth of the Prince of Peace is upon us and whom we greet with the roaring of the guns of war and all the evils to which mankind is heir.

We have never made a single commitment anywhere on earth unless our index finger was on the trigger and our eye on a possible target.

We speak of war as an essential necessity to bring about a lasting peace.

We know that war is big business. We also know that nothing is cheaper than human life. We also know, or should know, that only by the abolishment of the munitions of war, the outlawing of the implements of war, the complete worldwide laying down of arms by nations in a world wide agreement can we or will we have world peace.

However, man is a natural born killer. As he builds he destroys, all in the name of progress. He competes for supremacy, internationally, nationally and locally.

So progress means, "off with the old, on with the new". To realize this destruction is the keystone. Good housekeeping is lost in the desire to conquer that which is afar off at the expense of that which has been stabilized through the centuries.

Looking at all the problems confronting us I cannot help but refer to the last chapter of Malachi, verses 5-6. Read it. Those who believe in the Scriptures take note.

URGES ACTION TO SUPPORT BILL

The League of Women Voters of Michigan urges County Boards of Supervisors and concerned citizens to request the Senate Appropriations Committee to report out the Department of Social Services appropriation bill (Substitute HB 2035) as amended and passed by the House. The amended House bill adds $16 million to the proposed budget bill.

As amended, the House bill contains two major improvements: (1) it maintains the present 60 county - 40 states funding ratio for direct relief which represents a difference of $10 million to the counties, and (2) though the appropriation remains far below 1969 cost of living increases for grants, nevertheless, it represents an effort to move toward a more equitable adjustment.

The counties have already been burdened with unanticipated medical and nursing care costs since the start of 1969. We should not add more financial responsibility at the hard-pressed local level.

The League urges County Boards and citizens to make their concerns known immediately to Senator Charles O. Zollar.

.. And Speaking Of Your Health

The scientific literature is filled with small bits of added information that eventually may mean both the prevention and the cure of arthritis. The hundreds of thousands of victims of one or more forms of the time to come when their pain and stiffness in the joints will be controlled and once again allow them complete activity.

A wide variety of drugs have been tried with moderate success in some Dr. Coleman cases and without any real results in others. The fact that there are so many drugs on the market simply means that there is no one drug that will be satisfactory in every instance.

A new anti-arthritis drug is now being used with a considerable amount of success and enthusiasm in England. It seems that the drug has a number of advantages over those that were previously used, for it relieves pain and the stiffness of the joints without causing any severe upsets of the stomach. This is, indeed, a significant advance especially if there are no marked side effects.

The new drug, ibuprofen, has passed very critical tests in New Zealand and in Great Britain in experimental animals by those who were seeking to learn its value.

A large series of patients with arthritis have been tested with the new drug and at this time have responded well without unusual toxic reactions. These cases were carefully chosen from a vast group that previously had not reacted satisfactorily to available drugs. Soon clinical trials in America will be released to physicians and if the drug lives up to its promise and if it is cleared for safety by the health officials, it will be available everywhere in the United States.

This exciting drug was reported by Dr. Malcolm Thompson of the University of New Castle-upon-Tyne. He, and Dr. John R. Duthie of Edinburgh feel that the anti-inflammatory effects of ibuprofen deserve the consideration it now is receiving.

A very important contribution of the Atomic Energy Commission's research activity is a new instrument that will be of tremendous value to the blind. Developed at the Argonne National Laboratory, a moving belt has been created to make it far less difficult for the blind to read Braille. It is expected that this will markedly reduce the difficulty of reading and increase the speed, with very little practice.

This brilliant technique is based on a method of transcribing symbols from an ordinary magnetic tape and playing them back with the raised patterns of Braille.

Even sophisticated physicians cannot help but be impressed by the myriad people who unselfishly give their scientific energies to furthering the happiness and productivity of the handicapped.

Why adhesions form in the abdomen after some kinds of surgery still remains a great secret. It is known that some people have a tendency to form adhesions even when the surgery is relatively minor and tissues handled with great gentleness. Many techniques have been devised to prevent adhesions. A new one is now being tried in experimental animals at the University of Miami by Dr. James A. O'Leary and a group of co-workers. A special kind of liquid silicone seems to have some potential in reducing adhesions after surgery.

Opening lead—king of spades.

When declarer has two different courses of play open to him, both of which are dangerous, he can hardly do better than follow the indicated probabilities in choosing which line of play to pursue.

Take this hand where South is in four hearts. West leads the king of spades and East overtakes it with the ace and returns a spade. West wins South's nine with the ten and continues with a low spade.

It is obvious from both the bidding and play that East started with a doubleton spade. So South is forced to ruff in dummy with the jack as East discards a club.

The contract is clearly in jeopardy, and, so far as declarer is concerned, may even be beyond redemption, depending on how the unseen cards are divided.

Two methods of play are available, either of which may make the contract (if it can be made). One is to lead a trump to force out the ace, which West is almost sure to have, and hope East cannot overruff dummy when a spade is led again.

The other method is to play three rounds of clubs, hoping the suit was originally divided 3-3, in which case there is a very reasonable prospect of making the contract.

Of the two possibilities the better chance is to lead out the clubs. It is highly unlikely that East, who had only two spades to start with, also has only one heart. He is far more likely to have started with two hearts than one.

Accordingly, South plays three rounds of clubs, East ruffing the third club and South overruffing. Declarer now leads a heart and, as the cards lie, it does not matter whether West takes the ace or not.

If he does, South easily makes the rest of the tricks, whatever West returns. If West ducks the heart, South ruffs the jack of spades in dummy and coasts home with ten tricks.

Will Break Ground For 50 Homes

First Section Of Townhouse Project Sold Out

Robert Pozniwko, president of Superior Home Builders, Inc., announced today his company will break ground at 4 p.m. Monday, on the first 50 homes to be built in the North Shore Townhouse complex. He said all 50 homes have been sold and he expects the first of these homes will be ready for occupancy in late summer.

The homes will be built on a tract of land along North Shore drive between Madeline avenue and Collins avenue in Benton township. There are now five townhouses used as models at that location.

150 UNITS PLANNED

The first 50 units will consist of five one-bedroom, 30 two-bedroom and 15 three-bedroom homes. Pozniwko states that this is the first cooperative community to be constructed in the Twin Cities area. Ultimately, it will include over 150 one-, two- and three-bedroom homes.

Each home will be completely soundproofed and will have its own lighted parking space. Playground areas will be provided for children of cooperative members. The two- and three-bedroom homes also have full basements.

Pozniwko explained that cooperative townhouses are a new concept in home ownership. Members of the cooperative pay a small fee to join and the monthly payments, ranging from $105 for a one-bedroom home to $140 for a three-bedroom home, include exterior and interior maintenance and repairs, care of the grounds, heat, replacement of appliances when necessary, interest and taxes, and all utilities except telephone and electricity.

Under current tax regulations, the portion of the monthly payment used for interest and taxes, about 49 per cent is deductible from the occupant's income tax. Pozniwko pointed out that members enjoy all the advantages of a home of their own, but without any maintenance worries.

These homes were constructed under a special provision of the Federal Housing Administration to provide housing for moderate income families. As an example of the savings under this act, a two-bedroom home with 1½ baths costs only $123 per month.

Pozniwko said applications are now being accepted for the second section of 50 homes on a first-come, first-served basis. Except for Thursday, model homes are open for public inspection daily and Sunday from 12 noon to 8:00 p.m. and on Saturday from 12 noon to 5:00 p.m.

Any moderate income family may apply for membership at the Cooperative Offices located at North Shore Manor. Each applicant must be approved by the board of directors and must meet income and credit requirements of the Federal Housing Administration.

Sales of these units are being handled by FCH Services, Incorporated, a non-profit organization which has handled the promotion of over 30,000 such townhouses. Their offices are located in the model homes.

BH Teachers Seeking 'Agency Shop' Clause

By TOM BRUNDRETT
Staff Writer

An "agency shop" proposal was reported today to be among demands made by negotiators for Benton Harbor public school teachers in master contract talks with school district bargainers.

Sources close to the bargaining said the request was made when the negotiators for the Benton Harbor Education Association opened the talks. Official spokesmen declined to comment because bargaining is still in progress.

'SERVICE FEE'
The agency shop clause, if approved, would require non-members of the BHEA to pay a "service fee" to it for representation. The fee would equal a membership fee.

Niles schools have already ratified a similar clause in a new master contract for teachers there and other school districts in Berrien county are known to be reviewing the proposal in bargaining with their teacher representatives.

Schools throughout the state, where bargaining was scheduled this year, faced the possibility of the demand because of recommendations by the Michigan Education Association.

It has touched off legal moves in Detroit where a local of the American Federation of Teachers, which represents the teachers, won approval of it. The MEA local unit in the district is objecting.

In the Benton Harbor system, members of the AFT Local 1342 doubted that the requirement, if approved, would touch off organized resistance. But they indicated teachers belonging to neither the BHEA or the AFT might object. The Federation at one time represented about 100 of the Benton Harbor system's 500 teachers.

INVOLVES ABOUT 200
Harold Atwood, former recording secretary of the AFT local, said teachers should abide by the requirement if approved. They should either pay the fee or join the agency involved, he said. He estimated about 200 of the teachers now belong to neither group.

The former officer said state AFT officials at a state administrative board meeting sometime ago agreed that, if required, a teacher should either pay the fee or join the organization.

An AFT member, at the same time, may retain membership in his own organization under a reduced membership fee schedule, according to Atwood.

Present officers of the local AFT could not be reached for comment.

Rates For Dumping Up 10c

Twin City Landfill Costs Increasing

Rates for rubbish dumped in the Northwestern Berrien County Sanitation authority landfill on Smalldge road north of the Twin Cities airport will be increased 10 cents per cubic yard July 1, chairman Edward R. Strong announced today.

The new rates will be 45 cents per cubic yard for loose rubbish and 60 cents per cubic yard for compacted rubbish. Loose rubbish is usually that hauled in open trucks while municipalities and some private operators have compactors that hydraulically compress the debris.

The authority previously set the minimum charge at 50 cents for rubbish and debris brought in by residents.

COSTS GOING UP

The increase in rates is expected to enable the authority to operate in the black, Strong said. The board at its annual meeting this week approved a $101,000 budget which reflects increased costs of operation and retirement of bonds issued to pay for original property and the development of the landfill.

The sanitation authority is composed of Benton Harbor, St. Joseph, Benton township, St. Joseph township and Shoreham. It is the first example of the Twin City area governmental units forming a single agency to do a specific function. It has since been followed by cooperative efforts in water service and the developing sewer service.

OFFICERS ELECTED

The board's first set of officers were all re-elected at the organization meeting. In addition to chairman Strong, who represents St. Joseph, the other members are Delbert Bates, St. Joseph township, vice chairman; Wayne Hatfield, Benton township, secretary; Lawrence Hauch, Shoreham, treasurer; George Cassler, Benton Harbor, assistant treasurer; Benton Township supervisor Ray Wilder, St. Joseph township supervisor Orval L. Benson, Shoreham village president Hugo David and City Managers Lee Hill of St. Joseph and Don Stewart of Benton Harbor also sit on the board.

The board also re-appointed Atty. Henry Gleiss its legal representative and Ben W. Tucker, superintendent.

SJ Concert Program Announced

Municipal Band Is Beginning Its 31st Year

"Strike Up the Band," the theme song for the St. Joseph Municipal band, will usher in the 31st season Sunday at 2:30 p.m. at the old bandshell on Lake boulevard at Pleasant street, St. Joseph.

Director John E. N. Howard will open the season with a program of marches, semi-classical selections and the singing of the Fruit Belt chorus of the Barbershoppers. The chorus will be directed by Tom Ferren.

The municipal band, which is a tax-supported facility, had its origins before the turn of the century when the town band serenaded incoming passenger ships loaded with excursionists visiting the Twin Cities.

For 31 years it has been financed by a city tax of 21 cents per $1,000 valuation (.21 of a mill). The concerts are held each Sunday, at 2:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. from the last Sunday of June to Labor day and including the Fourth of July.

This season Howard said today the band hopes to move into a new shell. The site, near the firemen's fountain, and the design, have been approved. The new concrete shell will offer better acoustics than the old shell. The band has been forced to move to the front of the old shell after the structure was condemned. The new band shell is being built with contributions and more are needed, Howard said. At last count, about $35,000 of the $58,000 needed has been raised.

The program for Sunday will include "March Young Comrades," by Ray Rossi; "The Barber of Seville Overture," by Rossini; and the "Boilermakers March" by Harold Walters.

The program also includes "Mexican March Zacatecas" by Genaro Codina; "In the Good Old Summer Time" by George Evans; selections from "South Pacific" by Richard Rodgers and "The Black Horse Troop March" by John Philip Sousa.

Howard said each Sunday's program includes a Spanish number, several marches and selections from famous musicals.

Requests are usually honored the following week, he said. There will be 39 musicians, many with advanced degrees in music, in the band Sunday. The 1969 municipal band is as follows:

Flutes — Pam Schertz, Carolyn Nahnesmith, Nancy Kline.
Clarinet — Sue Louiseau, Jim Benbeck, Rich Bressler, Janet Mitch, Linda Krumrie, Helen Zychowicz, Don Shelles, Debra Wallett, Ken Kessler.
Base clarinet — Cathy Sells, Ken Behr.

Mayor's Example Could Help Others

Smith Now All Signed Up For Medicare

Wilbert F. Smith, mayor of Benton Harbor, is newly among the 19.8 million senior citizens nationally and over 28,000 locally in Berrien, Cass and Van Buren counties, who have become entitled to medicare during the first three years of its existence. Medicare celebrates its 3rd anniversary on July 1, 1969.

Mayor Smith's case is typical of many individuals reaching age 65. He became entitled to the protection which medicare affords effective May 1, 1969 even though he will not retire until July 1. May is the month Mayor Smith reached age 65. Some people have the misconception that they must retire before they can become eligible for medicare.

PREVENTING LOSS
Mayor Smith was reminded to file for hospital insurance and medical insurance by the Social Security administration, and he now has this protection. Through a continuing "leads" program the Social Security personnel attempt to identify and contact those people reaching age 65, who are eligible for medicare and monthly benefits. This helps to prevent the loss of monthly cash benefits as well as the loss of valuable protection under medicare.

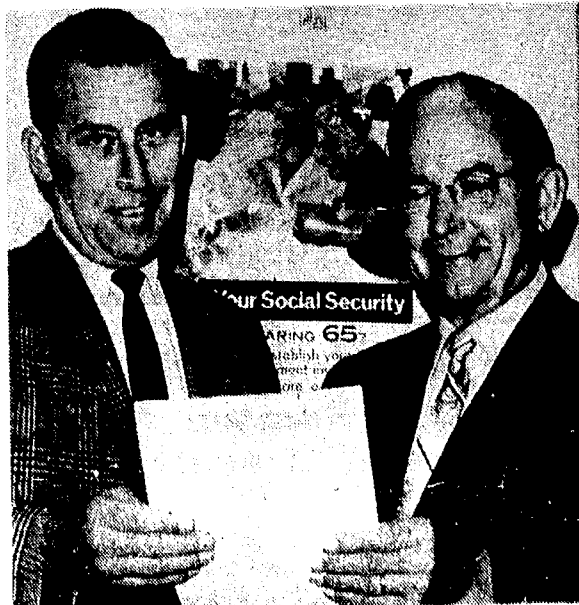

Mayor Smith is entitled to this protection beginning May 1, 1969, because he enrolled before the month in which he became 65. If he had waited until the month he was 65 or later, his medicare protection would not have started on the first day of the month he reached 65. For this reason, persons becoming age 65 are advised to contact the Social Security office two to three months in advance.

Mayor Smith's claim was processed quickly because he was well prepared to file. By being in touch with the Social Security office before he filed, he knew what evidence was needed to support his claim. In this case proof of age such as a birth record or baptismal record was needed. Also, proof of 1968 earnings was needed. By having this evidence available at the time he filed, his claim could be processed in less than 30 days.

OFFICE IN BENTON
Others wishing to file for medicare or Social Security should contact the Social Security office, Fairplain Plaza, Benton Harbor, well in advance to find out what they will need.

Social Security records are confidential. However, Mayor Smith has permitted telling his story in order to help inform others about the medicare program.

Jury Clears Benton Man In Accident

A Berrien circuit jury deliberated more than two hours late Friday and acquitted a 45-year-old Benton Heights man on a charge of leaving a car-pedestrian accident on Sept. 14, 1968, in Benton township.

The verdict followed testimony from Carl Homer Roetzel, of 978 Villa court, that he believed it was not his car but another car that had struck Mrs. Margaret Dowell, and further that he did not leave the scene.

"I don't disagree with your verdict at all, so far as this case is concerned," Judge Julian Hughes told jurors.

Trial pitied Berrien Chief Assistant Prosecutor Quentin Fuleher against court-appointed Defense Atty. Henry Gleiss of Benton Harbor.

DENTAL GRAD: Dr. Thomas E. Brooks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene T. Brooks, 2490 River Bend drive, Benton Harbor, recently graduated from the University of North Carolina Dental school at Chapel Hill, N.C. Dr. Brooks and his wife, Patricia, plan to live in Cary, N.C., where he will be opening his new office in August.

JUVENILE HOME MATRON SEVERELY BEATEN

State 'Barring'
New Doctors?Mich. Health Council Raps
Law Requiring TestBy RALPH LUTZ
Staff Writer

Niles lost an orthopedic surgeon while other communities in Michigan lost an opportunity to secure urgently needed physicians because of negative action in the state House of Representatives, the Michigan Health council reported.

Negative action cited by the council was the failure of the House to repeal a 1937 law requiring doctors of medicine to take a basic science examination before moving here. The bill failed June 12 to secure the 56 votes needed.

John A. Doherty of East Lansing, executive director of the council, said the young man who was ready to move to Niles was graduated from Emory university medical school, Atlanta, Ga., and was doing residency work in Cincinnati. He was not named. Doherty said the physician did not move to Niles because of having to wait a considerable time before the state examination was given.

Also, said Doherty, the examination can result in the need for an out-of-state physician to make two trips to Michigan.

Doherty told this newspaper that the old law has cost the state many physicians, not because they can't pass the test (he said only about 3 per cent have failed) but because of the delays. Doherty said if a doctor is ready to move here now, he may have to wait until September or December to take the examination. Also, some "bouncing up" is needed because the questions relate to pre-medical or early medical work that may be somewhat forgotten by advanced specialists, said Doherty.

FAVORED REPEAL

Favoring the repeal were Republican State Representatives Don R. Pears, Buchanan, Edwonn Root, Jr., Bangor, and DeForrest Strang, Sturgis. The council in its "Health News" release, listed Republican Rep. Ray Mittan, Benton Harbor, among nine legislators who were absent or did not vote on the repeal bill. The House Journal for June 12 showed Mittan had been excused from the day's session.

Asked if the examination requirement was left on the books to discourage foreign doctors from coming into Michigan, Doherty answered, "No." He said doctors from foreign nations still would have to take a basic examination.

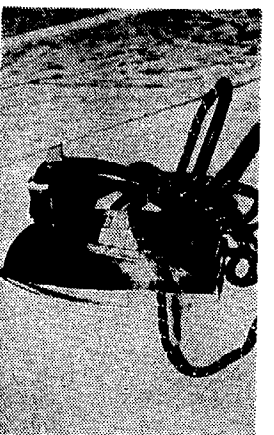

Doherty cited chiropractors and osteopathic physicians, saying that for the most part, they can come to the state and practice without taking the basic examination here. Doherty said the reason is that these groups have a reciprocity arrangement and if a member takes an examination in one state, it is honored in another.

The state health council expressed fears that taxpayers may end up by paying $50 to $100 million to establish a college to train 50 to 60 osteopaths annually, when, "without spending a dime," the state could secure many medical doctors from military service or out of state hospitals or medical schools.

According to Doherty, Reps. Pears, Root and Strang were eager to have the old law repealed in an effort to secure more physicians for their areas. Doherty said Root serves on the House public health committee, while Strang appeared before the committee and also was active in helping establish a nurses' training program at Southwestern Michigan college, Dowagiac.

Doherty said the examination law was adopted when doctors were plentiful for the existing population. About three years ago, he said, the House adopted a repeal bill which was turned down by the state Senate. More recently, he said, the Senate passed a repeal bill, which was turned down by the House.

The health council reported that now, 42 representatives, mostly from outstate Michigan where the need for medical doctors is critical, voted for repeal of the examination law. The council reported that 49 others, including many from Detroit and southeastern Michigan where the state's medical schools are located and where the shortage is not as critical,

Girl Accused
As AttackerAssault Underscores Plea
For Better Facilities

BERRIEN CENTER—A housemother at the Berrien county juvenile detention home, attacked with a steam iron by a female inmate apparently trying to escape, was reported in fair condition today in Berrien General hospital.

Mrs. Goldie Marie Ivarson, 47, received a skull fracture, head cuts, and bruises, hospital spokesmen said. She was placed in the intensive care section but was taken off the critical list early today. The detention home is located beside the hospital on Deans Hill road.

Sheriff's detectives said Mrs. Ivarson apparently was hit once with the iron, beaten with fists and then dragged by the hair some 40 feet into a washroom. Attempts were reportedly made to grab her keys to unlock the doors, they said.

SAVED BY HUSBAND

Hans Ivarson, 61, the victim's husband, rushed inside and stopped the attack upon hearing her screams for help. He had been working in the garden outside the home.

Scheduled to appear before County Probate Judge Ronald Lange today in connection with the attack was Elizabeth Sue (Rogers) Reznicek, 16, whose mother, Mrs. Bonnie Reznicek lives at 812 Michigan avenue, St. Joseph. Her father, Robert Rogers, lives in rural Bangor.

Described by authorities as a "quiet" girl, Miss Reznicek had been back in the home since Thursday night after being in the Plainwell treatment center since June 10. She was being held on a runaway complaint filed June 7.

The girl was described as white, 5 feet 5, and weighing 140 pounds. According to family sources, she had attended St. Joseph high school before quitting school. She had been detained in the home May 12-21 on an initial runaway complaint and was returned on June 7 following a second complaint.

Authorities said she was set to the Plainwell sanatorium on June 10 to undergo diagnostic examinations. No problems were reportedly discovered, sources said.

WILL DETERMINE CHARGE

Robert Johnson, chief juvenile probation officer for the county juvenile court said the hearing would determine any charge against the girl and rule on a request to refer the case to adult court.

If referred to adult circuit court, the girl could be tried on a felony charge of assault with intent to commit murder, the authorities said.

Detectives Ronald Immoos, Robert Klammerly, and Boyd Umphrey said the attack against Mrs. Ivarson occurred about 7:40 p.m. while Ivarson was outside.

According to detectives, Mrs. Ivarson was apparently seated at a table in the dining hall when she was struck with the iron. She was dragged into a recreation room and then into the washroom, a total distance of 40 feet.

Ivarson said, "I was outside and heard her scream. When I got inside I found them in the washroom. I grabbed the girl and pulled her away and made her go sit in a chair."

Ivarson said his wife told him her assailant threatened to kill her to get the keys opening the doors.

According to Ivarson, his wife and the girl had been seated watching television when the girl asked to go to the washroom. The iron was on an ironing board in the recreation area between the dining room and the washroom.

Johnson said the attack against Mrs. Ivarson clearly demonstrated the need for a new detention home and more help. "We're sitting on this powder keg all the time. There is just no protection."

The home is designed to hold nine inmates, room for two more is available if essential. Four juveniles, two girls and two boys, were confined Friday night.

Besides a cook and a night watchman, the home is controlled by a husband-wife houseparent team. Two teams are employed, working four-day round-the-clock shifts.

REPEATED REQUESTS

The official said requests by the department and a committee of the county board of supervisors for a new juvenile home have been made repeatedly. But he said so far the county board has taken no action.

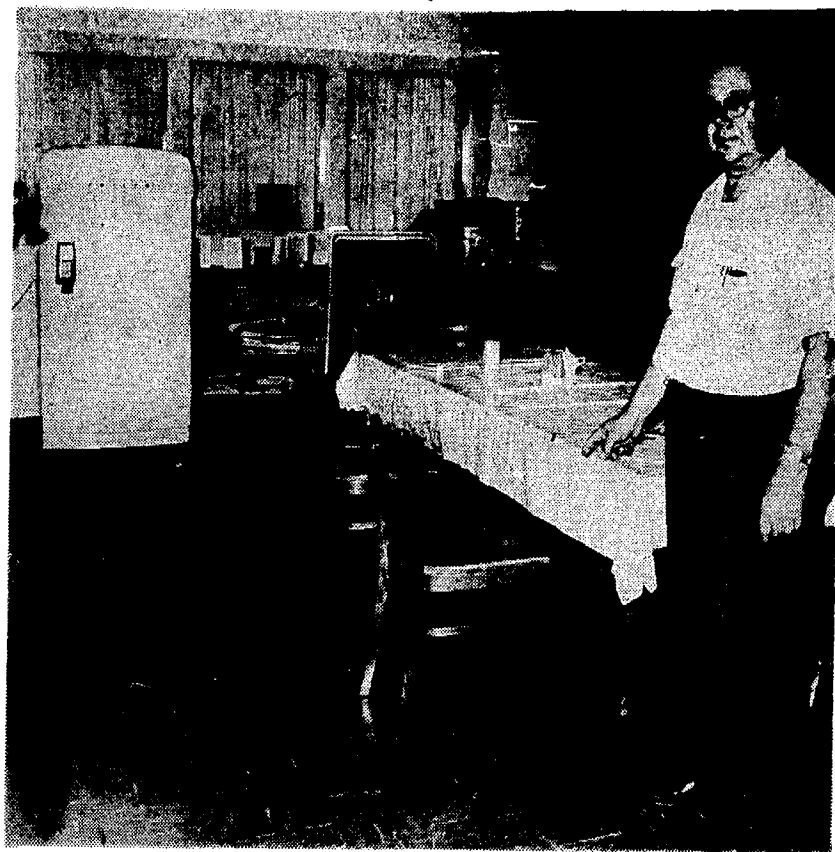

Mrs. Ivarson and her husband, Hans, 61, have been houseparents for three years. The assault was the first for them. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mongahan who are the houseparents when the Ivarsons are off duty have had several incidents, Johnson said.

Mongahan, according to Johnson, received several broken ribs earlier this year when he was knocked down and kicked by a youth being detained in a room. Another time, he was chased with a baseball bat, Johnson added.

A 16-year-old girl inmate of the home is being taken before the Probate court today on a complaint of assault with intent to commit murder. The court was to be asked to refer the juvenile to adult circuit court for trial. Mrs. Ivarson was watching television in the dining area when attacked. (Staff photos)

DOWAGIAC—Automated data processing was used here for the first time this week in compiling monthly billings for electricity, water and sewage customers.

City Manager Milton C. Mitchell said the customer accounts are now computerized through a service of the First National Bank of Southwestern Michigan, Niles. He said customers should have received their bills Friday.

Mitchell said forms are in three parts, with the cover address and postage. He said the customer tears off a flap at the left. This reveals the bill and a return envelope. The envelope may be used in paying bills, or customers may make payments at city hall.

Scholarship
Established
In AlleganFund Will Honor
Late Dr. Vanderkolk

ALLEGAN — A nursing scholarship in memory of Dr. Bert Vanderkolk, of Hopkins, has been established by members of the medical staff of the Allegan Health Center.

The scholarship will be awarded annually to a resident of the area served by the Health Center.

Dr. Vanderkolk, a member of the Health Center staff for 28 years, died in December of 1968. He served the hospital first as a general practitioner and later as radiologist. He resigned as consulting radiologist in late 1966 due to ill health, but continued his interest in the activities of the hospital and played a major role in continued progress of its X-ray department.

Coincident with announcement of the Vanderkolk memorial scholarship was an announcement by Charles Yeates, hospital administrator, that the Health Center had expanded the diagnostic services of the X-ray department to include radio isotope facilities.

This relatively new diagnostic tool is licensed and supervised by the U.S. Atomic Energy commission. Dr. George Benisek, the hospital's radiologist, will be in charge of the new department.

Until recently, the isotope diagnostic facilities were available only in Grand Rapids and more recently in Kalamazoo.

Yeates said the new facilities would prove a valuable diagnostic tool for members of the hospital's medical staff and an added convenience for patients at the Health center.

The Curry auto was shoved into a parked car owned by Audrey Simanton, Watervliet. The Simanton auto was pushed into a second parked car, owned by Eugene Minkiel, 3632 Washington avenue, St. Joseph.

Grant May Help Ease
Shortage Of Teachers

The Berrien County Intermediate School district is the recipient of a $39,846 federal grant to encourage college degree-holding adults to enter elementary education and reduce the teacher shortage.

The district will use the grant in Berrien and Cass counties to pay the full tuition of 10 to 15 semester-hours for 60 adults who already have 110 semester-hours or bachelor degrees, but not certain additional requirements for Michigan teacher certification.

Intermediate officials hope the tuition payment will encourage mature persons who nearly completed college studies or who have degrees and are not now working in education to enter the field.

Berrien residents interested in the plan can contact James Walton or Donald Cameron at the Berrien Intermediate headquarters in Berrien Springs.

Those in Cass county can contact Mrs. Mary Lou Corbitt, new superintendent of the Cass Intermediate district, in Cassopolis.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Strawberry Deal To Run Into July

Strawberry volume on the Benton Harbor fruit market next week is expected to decline, but berries should continue to appear at a rate of 3,000-6,000 crates per day and then drop off considerably after the July 4th weekend.

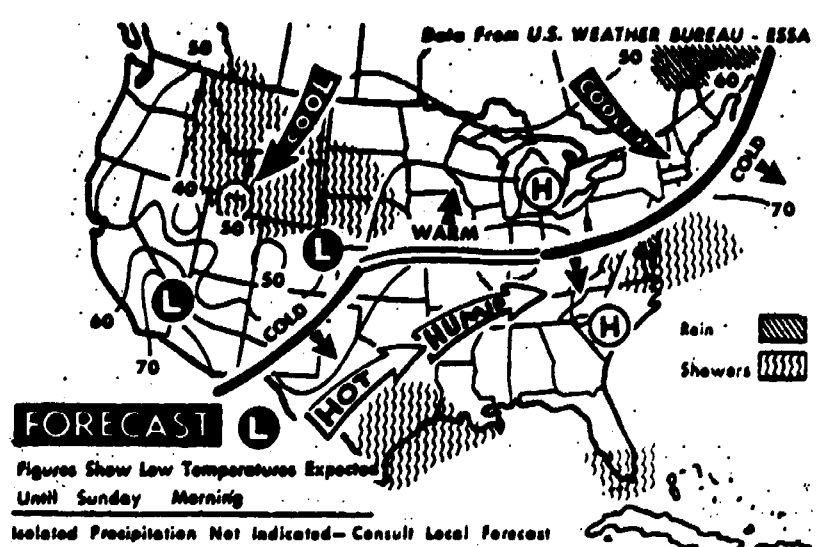

This season's total strawberry volume at the market has already surpassed last year's. Through Friday, 452,887, 16-quart crate equivalents had appeared, compared to last season's total of 435,453 crates.

Due to the late start of this season's harvest and the cool weather through the peak of the season, this year's harvest will be extended about a week to 10 days longer than usual.

High winds in the area during the middle of this week have caused some damage to tart cherry orchards in southwestern Michigan, according to Al Knittel, assistant market manager.

In trading Friday, Midway prices remained steady most of the day but declined late in trading. Early sales of Midways in 16-quart crates brought $4.50-$5.75, mostly $4.75-$5.25, while late sales averaged $3.50-$4 per crate. A few loads of Jersey Belles in 8-quart flats averaged $3.33-$3.50. Volume Friday was 11,734 16-quart crate equivalents.

There were 231 grower loads and a total of 16 day buyers Friday.

Investing In Common Stocks Is A Risk

By SAM SHULSKY

Q. I've read your articles on investment to combat inflation. My own experience has been that blue chips don't do the job. A.T.&T., purchased some years back, has gone down; Consolidated Edison, ditto. International Paper has come back somewhat. A few months ago, I bought some cosmetic and electronic shares and these have gone down substantially, too.

A. If I've given the impression that all one has to do is buy any common stock and promptly forget about inflation, I'm sorry. I don't think I have given that impression. Investing in common stocks is ALWAYS risky and there are NEVER any guarantees... of anything!

You've chosen to make your argument on the basis of two blue chips in the utility field, an area which has been neglected in recent years while market attention has been centered on "hot" issues in electronics, computers, oceanography, etc. etc. The steadily increasing cost of money has proved a high hurdle for the utilities, which employ vast and increasing amounts of borrowed money.

Secondly, you've given me no dates as a reference point, so it's difficult to present figures. The highest price you could have paid for A.T. & T., for example, was 75 at the time of the 1964 split. The company was then paying $1.95 a share in dividends. Today the dividend is 20 per cent, plus, higher at $2.40. This rise is just a trifle.

Gasoline Price War Brewing

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit area drivers may be in for a savings on gasoline following Standard Oil Co.'s move Friday to combat competitive cut-rate gas stations.

Standard announced that it will decrease its price to stations by 3.5 cents and have asked the dealers to reduce the selling price by 5 cents, down to 31.9 cents a gallon plus state tax.

If the request is followed it could lead to a price war among stations in the area.

Teacher Looks Back On Career

Spent 38 Years In Coloma's Elementary Schools

COLOMA — A teacher who spent all her 38-year career in Coloma elementary school says she found teaching modern-day youngsters challenging and interesting.

Mrs. Grace Kibler closed her teaching career earlier this month and now is pursuing her hobbies of flower gardening and reading.

Modern youngsters, she said, are "wiser and better informed. Most of them have traveled and seen more than the average child of even 10 years ago ever dreamed about. It was a challenge to keep them interested and busy."

EXPECTED WORK

Looking back on her career, Mrs. Kibler said she did not use any special techniques. She expected her pupils to work and they did.

She said her most difficult years were the two years her daughter Judy was in her second and third grade classes. "I was afraid I was being too demanding and at the same time afraid I wouldn't appear demanding enough," she said. "But I think it was a lot harder on me than on Judy."

Now that she is retired, Mrs. Kibler plans to devote some of her time to her first grandson, Mark Edward. Judy grew up and married Edward Messal and the three live in Waterliet.

As Miss Grace Merchant of St. Joseph, newly-graduated with a life teaching certificate from the then-Western Michigan Teachers college at Kalamazoo, Mrs. Kibler went to Coloma in 1927.

Both high school and elementary pupils went to classes in a two-story brick building at West and Ledy streets. Two years later, the pupils and teachers moved into a new building on West street with elementary pupils on the first floor and high school on the second floor. That building is now the junior high school.

The post-war boom reached Coloma and an elementary school was erected in 1955. For awhile there was room to spare but consolidation with rural school districts in 1958 soon overflowed the classrooms and more elementary facilities were added in 1960.

EARNED DEGREE

Mrs. Kibler kept pace with educational trends and requirements. She earned a degree in elementary education at her alma mater, now Western Michigan university, and enrolled in several extension courses.

She said she liked the larger school system because teachers have better materials and equipment to work with. But she said she missed the personal contacts and friendships of the smaller school system such as informal teacher-parent parties, parent-planned school trips and end-of-the-year picnics.

However, as the years passed many of Mrs. Kibler's former students have come back to visit her and express appreciation for her work with them. She corresponds with several who have gone on to college and said "It is rewarding to have them take time when they are in college to write to me."

BH Couple Gets $18,000 In Damages

A Benton Harbor couple was awarded more than $18,000 by a Berrien circuit jury Friday at the close of a four-day auto damage suit trial.

Jurors awarded $15,670.20 to Silas Legg and $2,500 to his wife, Myra, for injuries suffered in a two-car crash June 6, 1966, at Empire and Salem streets in Benton Harbor.

Defendant was Mrs. Rita L. Emfong of St. Joseph.

The Leggs, by St. Joseph Atty. George Keller, claimed they both suffered back injuries when a car driven by Legg collided with one driven by Mrs. Emfong. Benton Harbor Atty. Theodore Troffer defended Mrs. Emfong.

The jury deliberated about three hours. Trial was held in Judge Karl F. Zick's court.

Court Can't Settle Dispute For Church

LANSING (AP) — The State Appeals Court has held that civil courts should have no role in settling church property disputes.

The opinion upheld a similar ruling by Wayne County Circuit Judge John B. Swainson that he lacked jurisdiction in the matter.

The case involved a dispute over church property between members of the Mayflower Congregational Church and the majority of its members, who voted to join the United Church of Christ.

The members of the original congregational group asked the court to rule they should hold title to the church property.

The Appeals Court opinion, by Chief Justice T. John Lesinski, cited a U.S. Supreme Court ruling that "civil courts have no role in determining ecclesiastical questions in the process of resolving property disputes."
